Here's a riddle:

I help you work,

I help you read,

You put me on your bedside table to go to sleep.

You need me at day but not at night.

I feel happy when I see my friends.

(Here's another hint: other people own my friends.)

What am I?

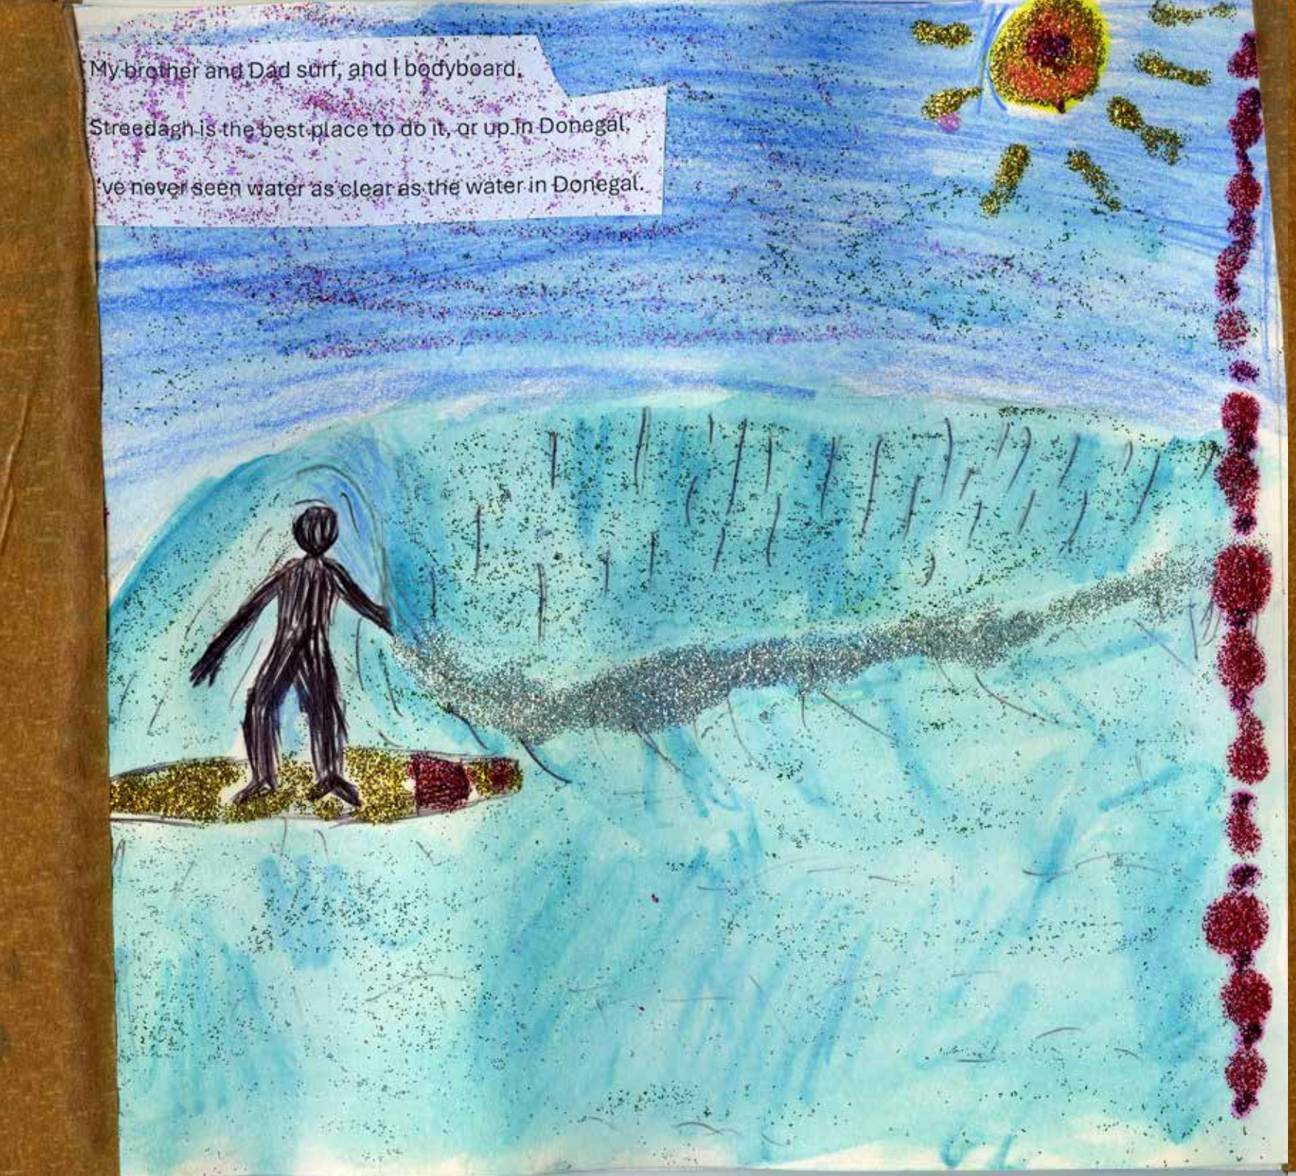

The answer is hidden somewhere in this book!

I like swimming in the rain in Curry river. It's easier to get in when it's raining because you're already cold and wet.

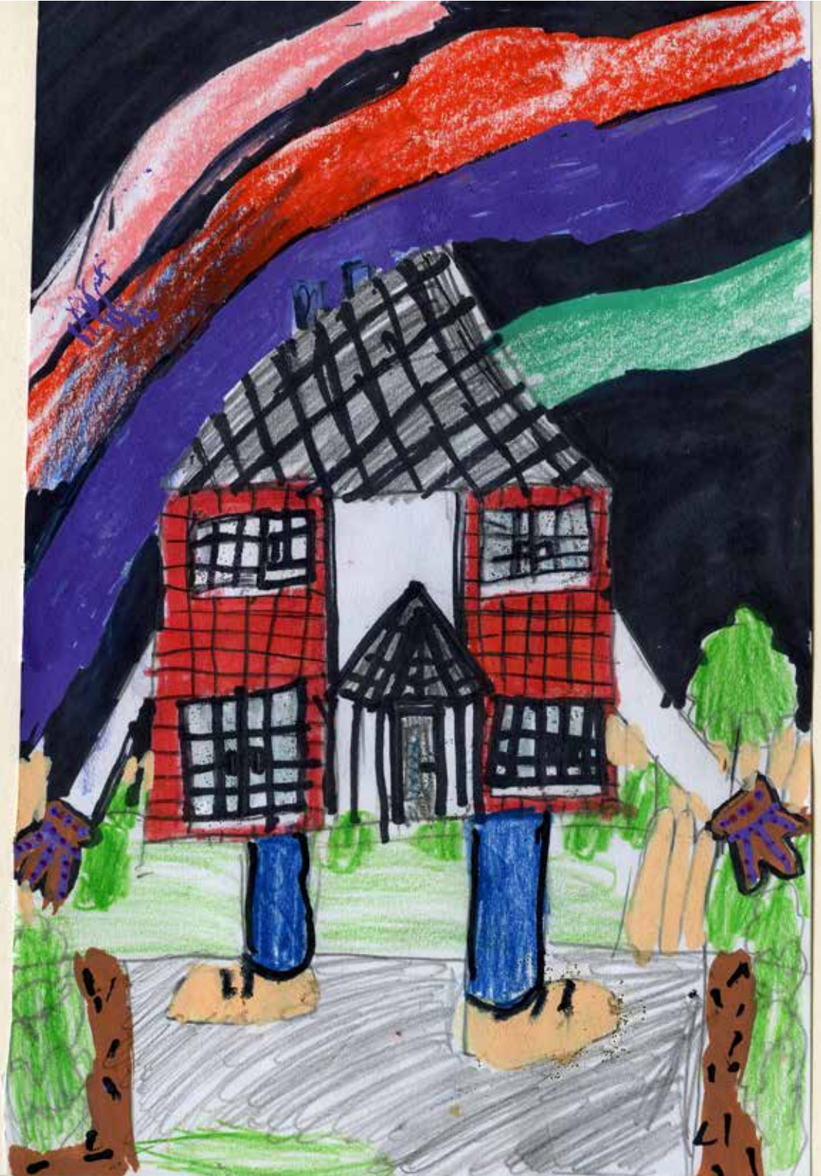

My brother and Dad surf, and I bodyboard.

Streedagh is the best place to do it, or up in Donegal.

I've never seen water as clear as the water in Donegal.

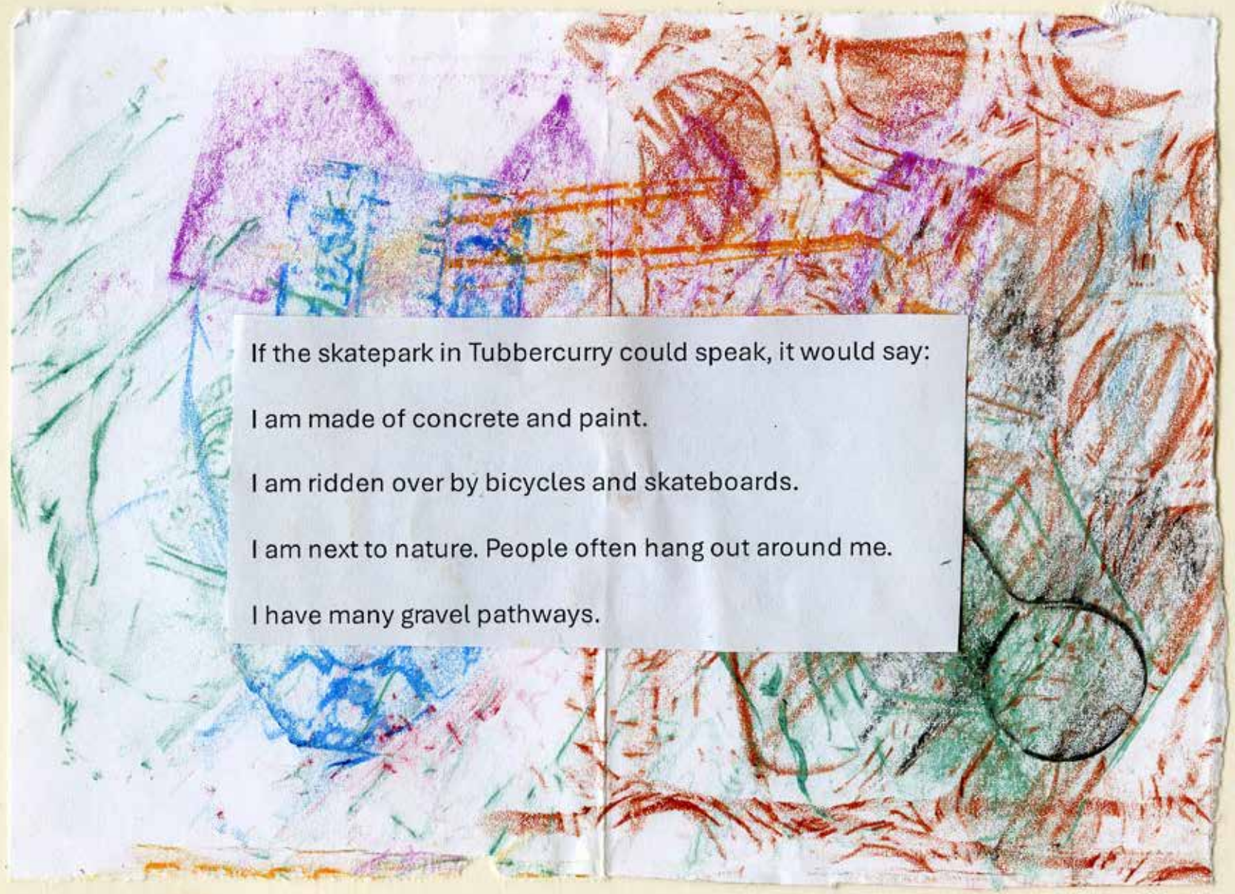

If my house could speak, it would say:

People go in me every day. People made me, and now I'm happy, because I exist. Sometimes people even ask if they can visit me. When they do, I am delighted, because I like it when I'm full of laughter and people. I am your every day place. I am your house!

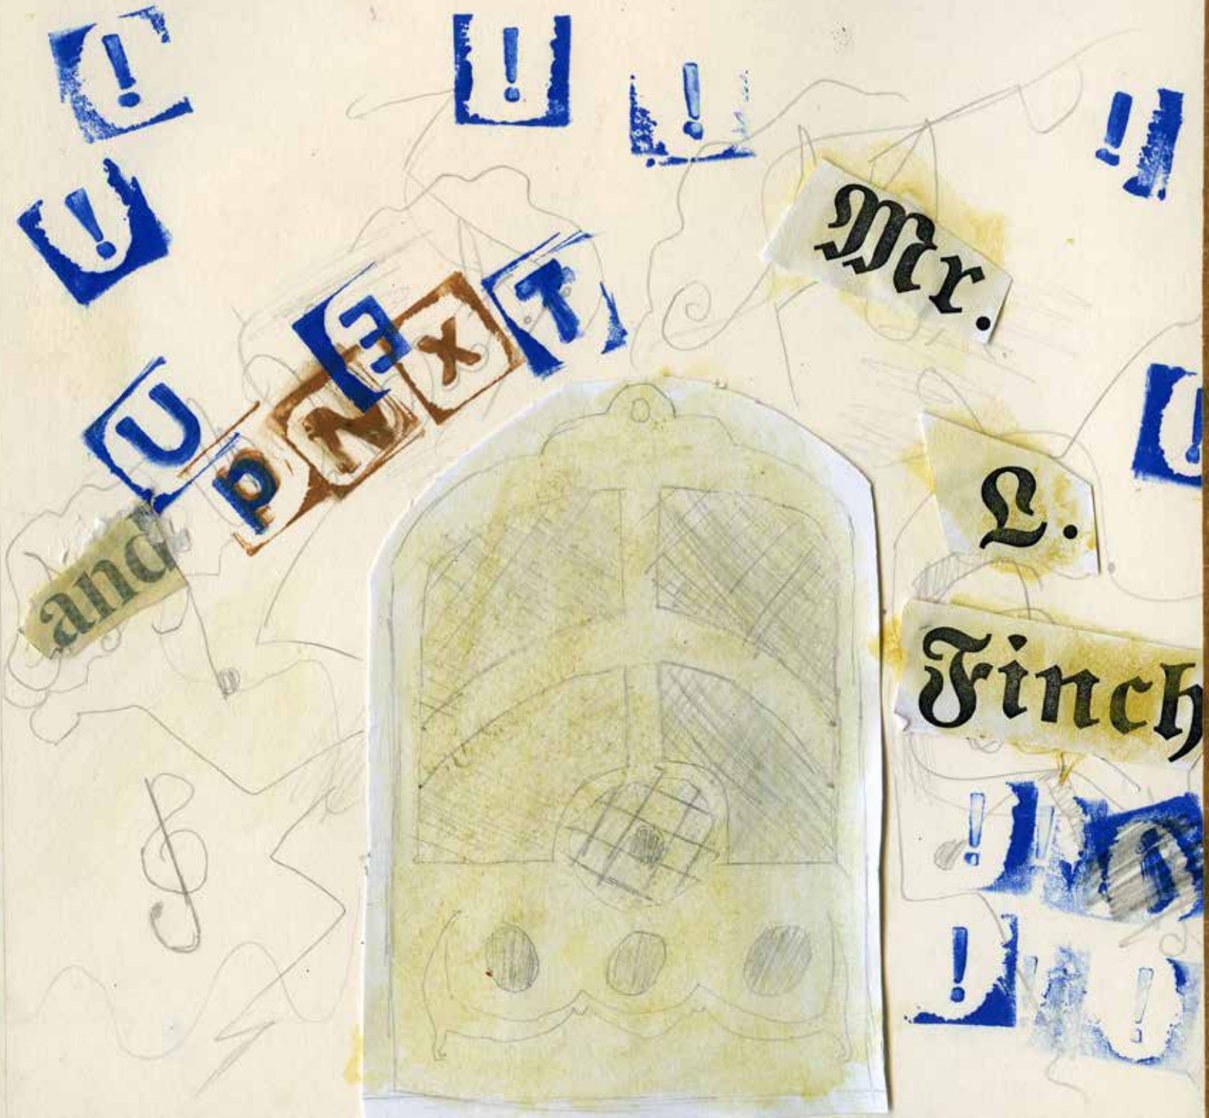

If the skatepark in Tubbercurry could speak, it would say:

I am made of concrete and paint.

I am ridden over by bicycles and skateboards.

I am next to nature. People often hang out around me.

I have many gravel pathways.

aX A dog came over to me today. He spokX medieval English. He said X "derrson twas XX A XX salient idot in every aspect XX of XXXXX the XXX word.X My mother ate my bread on tuesday. X I seek the revalations of the holy toldth the unwise in dreams of cold embersX that fade accross lakes of black blood, and that steal the leaves of childeren from lambsXX XXX trees in autumn." X Thedog hated bread andwould yell in XX rage when I would bring it up. "HOW DARE XOUXXXA you. I see the queenX wXXXXX wond rs of the elderly silent treaments that i knew were once whXole." The dog was from GERMANY. The dog was oddly X XXXfX XX smart,. "AAAA

I love to go to the park in Tubbercurry, because I go there with my friends and hang out.

If I was going to change how Tubbercurry looks, I would make it so that all houses were in the architectural style of the 1800s, because I really like that style. It's a sort of gothic, fancy style.

My favourite time of day is 7.30pm, because it gets dark around then. I prefer when it's dark outside. It's comforting, it makes me feel cosy.

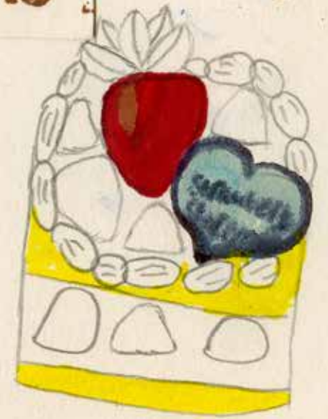

I like most colours if they're used correctly.

I love the sound of rain when I'm indoors.

JOJO

My Grandad's name is Joe, but I call him Jo-jo. I've called him that since I was two. His birthday is on the 1st Sept, and we usually go out to eat for his birthday. We also get him a cake and he blows out the candles.

STRAWBERRY

moo moo

He loves farming. I have three horses, and my Grandad really loves one of the horses in particular, called Coco. Coco is brown and white. He was the first foal my horse ever had. And every time we're driving home or going in to the farm, Coco comes down to say hello.

SHORTCAKE

My name is Chopper. I am Lexi's favourite teddy.

I have a big red hat with an X on it.

She always cuddles me going to bed. It's nice and warm.

I went to Cork with her and went to Fota with her.

Lexi's favourite book is Lottie Brooks. She reads it every night.

If I was in charge, I would make sure everyone had food, and that no one ever had to do any homework.

(Like why do we have to do work at home when we already do work at school like?)

I help you work,

I help you read,

You put me on your bedside table to go to sleep.

You need me at day but not at night.

I feel happy when I see my friends and other people own my friends.

What am I?

I don't like Sundays because you know Monday is coming next. Friday is a good day because you've gotten through everything.

My favourite weather is when it's really snowy, because after being outside in the snow I always get a hot chocolate. It's also really fun to be out in the snow. I run after my brother, or he runs after me, and one of us always falls, and it's funny. We throw snowballs at each other.

There are French flags in Tubbercurry because it's twinned with a town in France.

I saw the northern lights once, it was all pink in the sky. I was asleep in the back seat of the car and I had to get woken up. My brother got woken up as well and it put him in a bad mood. I was happy to be woken up though because the sky was so pretty. The colours were really nice. It made me feel happy.
